ustom for many years the legislature has seen compelled to carry its sessions over nto June, but it should not be blamed for his, for if ever men worked steadily from he very beginning until the five months and passed with the thought in mind that the hour saved here and there would re-ult in early prorogation, this general court has done so. It has been the most indus-less true that it has had less matters of supreme importance.

The Charles river-Neponset sewer bill to which I have heretofore referred, has reached a rather old stage. It seems that when it reached the senate the members of when it reached the senate the members of the committee on ways and means, who were entirely well disposed towards it were rather surprised to find that while the little said Charles and Neponset valleys, there was no reference to the Neponset valley system in the measure. They set at work to remedy the matter, though time may show the work to have been un-necessary, for in investigation I found that it was cut out at the suggestion of Mr. Gibbs of Brookline, who it seems by read-ing the statute which authorized the system

Gibbs of Brookline, who it seems by reading the statute which authorizes the system for Quincy, Hyde Park and Milton, convinced himself that the new bill would be in no sense better than the original law. In the case of the Charles river system it was different. The Charles river system it was sufferent. The Charles river valley system was provided for by a bill which was passed in 1889, while it was several years later when the Neponset valley bill was drawn, and the first contained none of the safeguards in the matter of appeal from the decisions of commissioners as were provided by the second. Mr. Gibbs is still unreconciled to the situation. Brookline is in the Charles river system, and he says that by making provision for the settlement of the ouestion of rental only for last year and this, it will be possible still to have a bill put through next close of the vote giving it the necessary four-fifths.

The house ways and means committee adversely reported the McTammany voting machine bill on Friday of last week, Mr. Thompson of Quincy being recorded as a dissenter. Mr. Thompson has been quite active in legislation during the past week, both on the floor and in debate.

The million dollar boulevard bill, favored by Mr. Thompson gainst the majority of his committee, was favorably reported by Senator Film's ways and means committee, and has been passed along by the senate without opposition.

Keep the roosting places cool and clean. Do not let twenty-five or fifty chicks, no matter what age, crowd into one coop that is only large enough for a dozen.

The most successful method of sprouting black seed onions that I have ever tried is to pour boiling hot water over the seeds and allow them to stand from five to ten minutes. Then you will see the little fine sprouts begin to start. The best time to manure the garden ust before the ground freezes in the fall. Manure fresh from the stable is best, as it

FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1897

It was in the air on Monday and Tuesday It was in the air on Monday and Thesday that as the selectmen and electric light people failed to agree as to terms on which the light service should be continued, that the town would again be in darkness as to street light on and after the first of the month, but the light company not wishing to precipitate a calamity have continued the light pending a settlement of affairs and offer to leave the price with the Elec-tric Hight and Gas commissioners for adjustment. The selectmen are, however, adjustment. The selectmen are, however, handicapped by the action of the town at its annual meeting held in March; with a reduction of appropriation and a practical vote to increase the service, of course there must be a material reduction in the price per light, even if there was not a question the price being too high, and in excess of the price being too high, and in excess of what is paid by other towns; in view of all of these facts the matter will be brought before a town meeting for further discussion and we are informed that at a meeting of the selectmen held yesterday, it was d cided to call a town meeting in the rink at ath on the night of the 15th a week from Tuesday.

Some Things People Don't Think of.

'Just why it is that children at the break fast table will beg for a little coffee day after day, I am unable to say, except that they have a deeply rooted desire to have what their parents do in the way of food and drink, then I believe they naturally like something hot to sip with a spoon; at any rate, the demand is there and I'm blest if it isn't hard beget over, when one has three or four in the family, but we can't give our young folks coffee to drink; everyone knows its effect on children and it seems almost criminal to set before the innocents something we know will barm them.''

So speaks a thonglatful mother and to such the grain coffee, Postum comes as a blessing to solve the vexed question.

Dr. H. W. Pierson, "Medical Advance," (325) Stewart Ave., Chicago, says: "We know of your Postum and are very much pleased with it. Decidedly opposed to the use of both tea and coffee."

Paris.—I cannot remember a year when women wore so much purple. At the theaters, at the races, under the great white pyramids of the biossoming horsechestnut trees, on the boulevards the royal color is dominant. Purple parasols, purple hats, purple gowns stand out like ink blotches against the green and the blue of trees and sky, while pink and dark red brought together in slandash combinations still further accent and intensify the color scheme. There are not many halftones. Green and white and purple and white plaids plot out the landscape in great tartan patterns, and pink and purple step forward to meet you and purple step forward to meet you and there you to say the Parisienne has not ostrich feather falling forward.

The foulards are as fresh and effective as any of the thin goods for summer. They are printed in bold tartan designs or in vermicelli patterns, pink or mauve or green on white grounds or in rather set and yet large and bold flower patterns. Striped silks printed along the stripes with vivid-hued flowers and taffetas in brilliant shades combined with black are of the things that find favor. Silk poplins are more used than for many years past. A new material that appears to be coming in is a thin stuff very like barege but so wide-ribbed as to resemble ottoman. nearly indispensable to her.

Summer capes, by the way, are capes in name only. The article that goes by that name has become, for example, a gay little bolero of green moire fastening in the back under the protection of many frills of white mousseline de soic, and with sleeves coming sometimes well down upon the hands and covered with innumerable little flounces. These sleeves are shaped to give the cape form, which apart from them would not be distinguishable easily. A cape of scarlet satin shown to me this morning had sleeves each of one flounce of black mousseline de soie and formed an agreeable variation upon the multi-tudes of little ruffles that threaten to make the summer girl of '97 look as if a wind had struck a ribbon counter decked for bargain day.

Silk and wool skirts are made four variar round. Mustics and little test. Silk and wool skirts are made four yards round. Muslins and light stuffs get from seven to eight yards. The one thing essential is that they give a soft, swaying, clinging effect, without a breath of suspicion of stiffness or any sort of self-assertion. All the thinner goods are made up over separate linings, which form independent skirts. Skirts are trimmed more and more lawishly. In the frantic competition as to who shall earry the greatest number of ruffles the taller women naturally have the advantage. There are more tailor she can for him; why, I hear she suends

INSURANCE.

East Weymouth, April 28, 1897.

To the Public :-Owing to poor health, I have decided to give up my Insurance Business, and have therefore, this day, transferred to H. A. Tirrell, the agency of the Royal Insurance Co. of England, and the Pennsylvania Insurance Co. of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Tirrell has had a long experience in Insurance and will be able to give my former patrons the same satisfactory treatment that it has been my endeavor to accord them.

All endorsements and changes in existing policies, will be cared for by him, and I bespeak for him your future patronage.

Z. L. BICKNELL. East Weymouth, April 27, 1897.

The above companies having been transferred to my agency.

ness like dealings. Hoping you will favor me with the same Yours respectfully,

H. A. TIRRELL.

THIS NEW HYMN

Is appropriate for the patriotic holidays, two of which, the Seventeenth of June and the Fourth of July, are almost upous. Just now the fact that our enterprising and patriotic women are organizing a Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, gives an additional reason for calling attention to this song which partly owes its existence to the prompting of the Regent of a prominent chapter who thought there was a call for such a composition.

The Revolution of 1776.

2. 'T is in the air they breathed, 'T is in the soil they trod. Obedience to God. With faith in creeds like this, Great Britain was defied,

And with a smile, in battle oft On land and sea they died. Their ringing cheers are stilled, Their swords are turned to rust, But children's children proud are bending O'er their sacred dust.

3. Then Sons and Daughters all, Who own an honest pride In heritage of patriots' blood, And feel the crimson tide Surge warm thro' ev'ry vein, By their heart-throbs impelled.

The rights they won and held! That Liberty with Law For aye may rule the world. While anarchy and tyranny down From their thrones are hurled.

Evolution.—There are three gaps in the theory of evolution that have never been bridged over. They are the origin of matter, the origin of man in his higher nature. At this point revelation introduces the idea of creation, which explains all.—Rev. M. D. Edwards, Presbyterian, St. Paul, Minn.

If birds are protected and encouraged to nest about the farm and garden, they will do their share in destroying noxious inputting up boxes for bluebirds, martins and wrens will prove a good investment. Birds are protected by law in many states, but it remains for the agriculturists to see that the laws are faithfully observed.

The legislature has passed a libel bill which is worth having. It is undoubtedly a better bill than was expected by the new better bill than the man to the creation of the properties. The Milton man very considered the new better bill than the new bill than the new bill than the change in the bill from the form is good to expect the house, was that he worked in the bill from the form in which was to be the house, was that the fact of having published a retraction should be put in evidence. This is fair. Representative Myers of Cambridge, who had stendily set himself against any bill with merit in it for many years on Beacon Hill, was crazy almost when he realized that the bill had been engrossed and he could not help himself.

Hoston is to have rapid transit, if a good bill will give it. Of course there have been some efforts to amend the bill, but they seem to have failed to hurt the measure as all absolutely unfriendly amendments have been rejected. The bill not only has many features which will encourage the building of the road, but conditions have been attached which seem to almost compet the construction under heavy penalties. One thing is certain, if the elevated leases the West End, it must go ahead and do the rest of the work.

HIS MAJESTY OF SIAM.

He Will Visit the United States in nasty to Leave the Confines of

It is definitely settled that Chulalons It is definitely settled that Chulalong-korn I., king of Siam, will visit the United States. He is expected to reach here in September from England. It is reported that her majesty Siraponso-phon, queen of Siam, accompanies her husband, but for some unknown reason the actual truth of the matter is left in doubt.

The visit of the king to the United States is likely to be of great social and commercial import, although the social feature will of course be of a temporary nature. The king will be lionized in New York much after the fashion of the reception given to Li Hung Chang, only this time it will be a monarch both de facto and de jure instead of a power behind the throne. It is a long time size of the power behind the throne. a power owning the throne. It is a long time since a real king has visited the United States, and as he will come to us with the honors of Europe thick upon him he will, of course, be an object of the most distinguished consideration. The king has heard much of the United States as a commercial nation and his express object in coming here is to learn the truth for himself. He will investigate our manufacturing industries, our coal mines, our steel industry—for this latter purpose making a special trip to Pittsburgh—and will also find out the reason for our supremacy in agriculture. He will first set foot upon the United States in New York, where his present itinerary calls for a stay of eight days. Then he will go to Washington and see all the sights United States as a commercial nat that remain. From here he will go by that remain. From here he will go by special train to Pittsburgh, at which place he expects to remain two days. The king will then return to Washington for a few hours, going from there to Philadelphia. From Philadelphia he to Philadelphia. From Philadelphia he will proceed to Boaton, then to Chicago, and may stop at Cleveland and Cincinnati en route. It is possible that from this point he will also go to Atlanta, Ga., and thence to New Orleans. It may

From New Orleans he will proceed up the Missispipi river by steamer to St. Louis. From there he will go through

Louis. From there he will go through Kanasa City and Omaha, to Denver, Several side trips will be enjoyed from Denver, but when the western journey is continued Salt Lake City will be the objective point. From Salt Lake City he will go directly to San Francisco, and there take steamer to Yokahama.

King Chulalongkorn's full name is Somdetch Phra Paramindr Haha. He was born September 21, 1853, and is the eldest son of the late King Mahomong-the late king Manomong-kut and of Queen Ramphu. He suc-ceeded to the throne on the death of his father, who died from a fever as the result of exposure while making a sci-entific observation of the celipse of the entine observation of the eelipse of the sun, October 1, 1868. His reign has, therefore, been of nearly 29 years' dura-tion. His kingdom is not as large as it was when he first took possession there-of, for in 1891 he was forced to turn over to France three entire provinces com prising in the aggregate 100,000 square miles. The cession was not formally sanctioned until September, 1893. At the present time this king is the ruler of 5,000,000 people and his power extends over 200,000 square miles of land. The king's father was the most enlightened of all the Siamese monarchs since the foundation of the recent dynasty. Chulalongkorn has introduced a number of reforms, particularly in reent years. The department of ed tion of the government is, so far as the actual performance of the duties there-of is concerned, practically in the hands of the Europeans. Following the ex-ample of Japan and China the king has caused a number of young Siamese to be sent to England, Germany and France, to study the arts, technical trades and the leading professions. Owing to the limited knowlege of the United States possessed by the king he has never made an effort to each he has never made an effort to cause the acquirement of civilization by any of 31 Milk Street, Boston, May 27th, 1897.

She has three children, but the crown prince is Somdetch Chowfa Maha Vijirunhis, the son of the king's first wife. The royal succession is nominally hereditary, but does not always descend from the father to the eldest son, each sovereign being vested with the privilege of nominating his own su cesor. Chulalongkorn has taken advan-tage of this fact.

The Norfolk Association at South Weymouth.

The custom of the Norfolk association of Congregational ministers, pleasantly in augurated last year, of making the June meeting a Ladies' Day, was happily renewed on Tuesday, by a delightful gathering at the Old South Church. Among those present were Rev, Messrs. Archibald of Brockton, Beale of Campello, Crather of South Braintree, Kendall, Evans, Suyder, Vincent, Butler and Alvord of weymouth with their wives, and also Rev. Messrs. Bolster and Lovering of Boston, Hunnewell of Whitman, Jones, Fritch and Hutchinson of Abigions of Chaset and Monroe and Clarke of Weymouth, Edge, C. A. Hilton of Randolph presided. The exercises included a steril manney of the South State of the Construction of the work of the Monty, an essay by Rev. W. P. Hutchinson on Saromanola," a paper by Rev. W. S. Fritch on "Deaconnesses" and a discussion opened by Rev. W. P. Beale on "Building according to the Pattern in the Monty," an essay by Rev. W. P. Hutchinson opened by Rev. E. V. Bigelow on "Sabbath Observances." At noon a fine collaboration of the structure of the most popular trips is that to Boston and the four rotes cast made a unanimous choice of L. A. WEYMOUTH'S ARTIST

The great event of the past week in naval circles was the visit of Secretary Long of the Navy and the battle ship Massachusetts to Boston harbor and the climax of the visit was the presentation by his excellency, Gov. Wolcott, to the ship on behalf of the State for whom she was named, an allegorical figure of Victory which was placed on the Missouri as theirs and while all the rest of the country is claiming him we think that Veymouth had better file its claim with the others. Fifty years ago there lived in East Weymouth Bela Lyon Pratt, his wife Nabby, and five children Charles II., George, Minot, Ellen S., Adeline W. and Susan J. church and illustrates the force of a remark made by an onlooker—that they might as well be playing over in Webb park for all the good they were doing.

A singular coincidence was the unpre-cedented falling of the clock weight Satursponded. Hose Co. No. 3 of Weymouth was the first to arrive on the scene and if they could have had a long ladder to reach the roof of the church from the railroad track or plenty of water from a strong steamer stream, it is the general impression.

At a meeting held August 8, 1811, it was alarm is resting and when the Weymouth district engineer, the engineer of the steamer and other members of the depart-ment are out of town. We are indebted to Mr. Charles Higgins, of Connell's Pharmacy for the snap sho ictures from which our cuts were made. Several sites for the new church are being talked, some in Weymouth and some in Braintree. In Weymouth, thoughts turn to portions of the Weston estate even though it is said that it cannot be sold, the though it is said that it cannot be sold, the old Binney estate is mentioned, the site of the present North High school, the Elias Richards estate. In East Braintree, portions of the White estate on Commercial street, the land of the White estate on Quincy avenue, the Hill estate near Weymouth line, the centre of the "Park" with spacious grounds, and last but not least, the old site, which is spite of the objections to the disturbance of the railroad some strongly favor.

It has been reported and quite generally understood that the site of the burned church was given by the White ancestors to the church for church purposes forever, and that if abandoned as a church site it would revert back to the church site it would rever back to the White estate, or at this time, to the Thayer Academy, the legatee of the family estates; therefore that the church can sot sell the land. This is not the truth as through the wise foresight and endeavors of the church treasurer, Mr. Charles T Crane, and through the kindness and court by Mr. Lord and Mr. Stetson, and the two barns in the rear of the church and cult the good work of the firemen saved any of them from destruction. As it was, one of the barns situated on the bank of the river was totally destroyed. The freight house of the N. Y., N. H., & H. R. R., the Fore River Engine Company's works, the resi-
